Global Competency Through CTE

Teacher: Larae Watkins

The Global Competency Through Career and Technical Education course is designed to help CTE professionals to be better prepared to support their learners understanding of just how globally connected they will be throughout their careers.

Consisting of two modules, the course will present participants with a series of activities that introduce resources and perspectives that introduce topics, best practices and practical approaches to building global competency skills. The course focuses on using a tool kit of free resources available during and after the course. Because of the unique capacity of CTE instruction to take advantage of project based learning, the course instructs how to maximize the use of these tools through highly effective project management approaches.
