From the Division President

To the leadership of the Engineering and Technology Education Division:

Welcome to an exciting new year of professional involvement in the Engineering and Technology Education Division of the Association for Career and Technical Education. As your president for the next three years, I challenge you to expand our Division, and therefore, our impact upon the profession, by bringing in a minimum of one new member each year. In addition to recruitment, show each of those new members a way that they can contribute to the profession through our Division. One of the best ways to involve people is to encourage them to accept assignment to a Division. One of the best ways to involve people is to encourage them to accept assignment to a Division committee, and find a way for the committee you lead to make a difference. Get involved in your school and district, and let them know that you are a national eTED policy committee officer.

Get to know the other eTED officers, and presenters, and let them know what your interests are. Communicate with other eTED officers and your committee members throughout the year, and get them involved. Now that we have officially added engineering educators to our division, we have greatly increased our potential to make a difference in the education of kids. If I can help in any way, just let me know.

In addition to increasing our membership, and the involvement of our membership in the work of the Division, my goals for the next two years include the development of succession planning for the Division, and implantation of an evaluation process for our committee structure. We need to ensure that leaders are prepared and ready to lead when the need arises. We also need to constantly ensure that our committee structure fits the needs of the Division and profession, and can change it as required.

I look forward to serving you for the next two years, and hope to see you at the convention in Nashville in November.

Sincerely,

A.R. “Bob” Putnam

eTED President
From the Policy Committee Chair

As members of the eTED policy committee, I would like to commend you on the work you do encourage you to continue your hard work in the future. With technology and engineering related issues continuing to dominate current events, now more than ever does, technology education need individuals such as you to continue to be the stewards of the field.

For the eTED policy committee to become quality stewards of the field, I would reiterate the statements made by the eTED president. Get involved, get others involved, mentor others, and represent and promote eTED and technology education. This division represents all areas of technology education and it is vital that we continue to encourage and motivate professionals from middle-level to high school to teacher education to get involved in eTED. In addition, I would ask that you continue to support our committee chairs as they work to recognize the highest quality research, schools, and individuals in technology education.

I am looking forward to an enjoyable and productive meeting and hope to see everyone in Nashville.

Sincerely

Luke J. Steinke
eTED Policy Committee Chair
