Industry Tour- Springfield ReManufacturing Company

Departing from Ramada Oasis Lobby

Facilitator: Kathy Hueste, Guidance Counselor, Lake Career & Technical Center, Camdenton R-III, Camdenton, MO

Springfield ReManufacturing Corporation (SRC) has been at the forefront of the remanufacturing industry since the early 1980's when founder Jack Stack, known internationally for his development of The Great Game of Business, spearheaded an employee buyout of International Harvester's remanufacturing facilities.

Through the years, they have evolved into several unique companies, each specializing in different remanufactured components for automobiles, commercial trucks, agricultural equipment, and construction vehicles. They attribute their growth and success to quality control, warranty-backed products, and an efficiency of production that generally flows from employee owned companies.

They truly believe that the phrase "our people make us better" is not an idle boast, but a statement of fact that has become their slogan and legacy in the remanufacturing industry.
