Welcome to the Region II Leadership Conference

Greetings and welcome to the Golden Isle of Georgia.

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to my home state of Georgia for the Region II Conference. Living only two hours from here, these Golden Isles are home. As a young person visiting Jekyll, St. Simons and Cumberland Island, I never would have imagined this time in the future gathering on Jekyll with CTE colleagues for a few days of networking, learning, celebrating, and just having some island fun. I can promise you that it is all good on Jekyll Island!

A special thanks to GACTE and the conference committee for collaborating over the past year to make this event be the best for our region. A lot of time and planning has gone into bringing you stellar professional development, networking opportunities, educational and entertaining speakers, an awards program culminating with a good Southern low country boil and a variety of exhibitors/vendors who support the jobs that each of you do daily.

We hope that you will take time to tour the island and learn about the many treasures and historical artifacts that make us proud to share this unique island with you. As you enjoy your free time on Friday night, you have several options of enjoying the island, venturing into nearby Brunswick or visiting the neighboring island of St. Simons. If you choose to stay with us on Jekyll, take time to enjoy and relax along the natural seashore of the Atlantic Ocean and unwind and reflect on the difference you make working and supporting our students in CTE. There are a few dining options on Jekyll Island. Because Jekyll Island is a state park, the island is limited on shopping venues, but you can find many options in nearby Brunswick or St. Simons Island. Brunswick is a typical South Georgia town with unique southern traditions. St. Simons is more of a tourist attraction with quaint island shops filled with souvenirs, antiques and clothing. You will find some good, southern home cooking and the best seafood in both places.

If there is anything that myself or the conference team can do to make your stay more enjoyable and memorable, please don't hesitate to ask us. Again, welcome y'all to Jekyll Island, Georgia where "it is all good"!

Welcome to the Region II Leadership Conference

Welcome to the beautiful Georgia Coast and to historic Jekyll Island! On behalf of the Georgia Association for Career and Technical Education, we are honored to have you attend the 2017 ACTE Region II Leadership Conference. Much work has gone into planning this excellent professional development event. During your time here not only will you benefit professionally but we will also take time to recognize the amazing award nominees from Region II.

I hope you have an enjoyable time as you enrich yourself professionally and network with other Region II attendees. If you need anything during your stay, please know our Georgia host team is ready to assist you.

We are glad you are here and remember... "It's All Good! in CTE"

Reflections of a Successful CTE Alumni

Jones Hooks has more than 35 years of experience in managing multifaceted organizations. His background includes working extensively in the public and private sectors, on local, state, national and international levels.

Originally, from Metter, Georgia, Hooks' Georgia roots run deep. After completing undergraduate work at the University of Georgia in 1975, Hooks earned his MBA at the George Washington University. After completion of his graduate work, Hooks assumed a full-time position on Capitol Hill with Congressman Ronald "Bo" Ginn (D-GA deceased).

In 1981, Hooks was named Director of the Kings Bay Impact Coordinating Committee (KBICC), established by Congress to assist communities in Camden County, Georgia and Nassau County, Florida in preparing for and mitigating impacts created by construction of the Navy's Trident Submarine Base at Kings Bay, Georgia.

After six years at Kings Bay, Hooks was recruited to lead the Albany-Dougherty Economic Development Commission. After successful management of that organization, Hooks was chosen by local leaders to head the Albany Georgia Chamber of Commerce.

In 1997, Hooks moved to Atlanta to work in the Strategic Relocation and Expansion Services group of KPMG. At KPMG, Hooks spent months on special assignment with the Yamacraw Mission, a state-funded, highly confidential project focused on building a high-tech economy in Georgia.

Beginning in August of 1999, Hooks served as President/CEO of the Hampton Roads Economic Development Alliance (HREDA) headquartered in Norfolk, Virginia. HREDA is a public/private regional partnership representing 15 jurisdictions and 1.5 million people from Williamsburg to Virginia Beach.

Since June 2008, Hooks has served as Executive Director of the Jekyll Island Authority (JIA). The JIA has over 300 employees and an operating budget of $29 million. The Authority is responsible for the stewardship of Jekyll Island, a barrier island off Georgia's coast. The JIA is also responsible for providing services, programs and amenities that maximize benefits to island visitors and residents.

Hooks was a member of the Leadership Georgia Class of 1984 and a Program Chair in 1985. He received the Edward A. Freeman Outstanding Alumni Award from the Leadership Albany Foundation in 1991, and in 2001 Hooks was awarded the Courage in Leadership Award by Leadership Hampton Roads. In 2017, he received Leadership Georgia's Frederick B. Kerr Service Award in recognition of his dedicated service to the state and his continued support of the leadership organization.

Hooks served as President of the Georgia Economic Developers Association in 1995 and is an Honorary Life Member of the Georgia State Chapter of Future Business Leaders of America.

Hooks currently serves on the Brunswick- Glynn County Development Authority Board and is a member of Wesley United Methodist Church, St. Simons Island. Married for 41 years, Jones and Stephanie Hooks have two married sons and five grandchildren.

Overcoming Obstacles to Achieve Your Dreams

As a freshman in high school, Tom McNeal's dream was to be an extreme sports athlete who wouldn't need further education after high school. However, his participation in the Future Business Leaders of America helped him see the world differently.

McNeal took off a few years from competitive riding to attend college and graduated from the University of Montevallo with a Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration, and then from Athens State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in human resources.

During his career in Talent Acquisition and Workforce Development at Southern Company and Georgia Power, he has hired more than 3,000 people and unfortunately has 'fired' a few as well.

Through his company 'Bring The Message', Tom brings these stories of success and failure to help students build a solid foundation for a successful career and life. This unique presentation includes real-world stories, interactive exercises, stunt bike riding that drives home key points and helps middle, and high school students understand how they can stand out and shine no matter what their career aspirations are!

Career and Technical Education programs in rural public schools are powerful drivers for local workforce development. However, limited resources and arbitrary district boundaries constrain efforts and lower efficiencies of program delivery. The creation of the Advanced Manufacturing Skills Training Alliance (AMSTA) in rural North Carolina leverages grant funds and the expertise of four public school districts and a community college as a force multiplier in the region. Through this partnership, districts collaborate to deliver high quality professional development for a population of more than 150 CTE educators and provide structured work-based learning opportunities for more than 8000 secondary students. Regional collaboration has also elevated the profile of these efforts in the eyes of surrounding business and industry, as well as with county and regional economic development officers and elected officials.

2018 Region II Leadership Conference Hyatt Regency Hotel Louisville, Kentucky September 28-29, 2018

The 2018 Best Practices Conference will precede the 2018 Region II Leadership Conference at the same location, September 26-28, 2018

Welcome

to the Hyatt Regency Louisville

The hotel is located in the heart of Louisville on historic Fourth Street and the first stop on the Urban Bourbon Trail. There are over 30 restaurants right outside our front door!

Rate $169 single/double

We are connected to Fourth Street Live! Louisville's downtown entertainment area. It's a pleasant walk or short ride to restaurants featuring renown chefs at Whiskey Row, NuLu or Butchertown.

Within blocks of the hotel are attractions such as Louisville Slugger Museum, The Muhammad Ali Center, Kentucky Center for the Arts, Frazier Historical Arms Museum, and Glassworks to name a few! The September meet will be running at famed Churchill Downs; also the site of the Derby Museum.

It's All for YOU in Louisville!
