Perkins was signed into law the end of July 2018. There are a few changes to Perkins V. There is now a program of study, a revised definition for work-based study. The government structure has remained the same. Previously, the state was to retain 10% of the funds, the law now states that the state will retain 15% for funding. The comprehensive Local Needs Assessment, LEA, needs to be updated once every two years. Perkin’s funding may now be spent on grades 5-12, previously it was for grades 7-12. Performance targets will no longer be discussed every year but will now be discussed every four years. A transition plan needs to be given to the government by July 2019. The four-year state plan will be due July 2020, which then needs to go to the governor and public twice for reading and review. There are 3 options for AQuest, credential retention, opportunities for postsecondary attainment, or work-based learning while in high school.
